Mexican in Car Case Out on Bail

SAN DIEGO, April 25 (UPI)—
The former chief of Mexico's national security police, arrested in connection with a $30 million international car theft ring, was free on $200,000 bail today.

Miguel Nassar Haro left the U. S. federal jail overlooking San Diego Bay late Saturday after bail was posted.

Nassar Haro was ordered to appear before a U.S. magistrate May 3 to answer charges of transportation of stolen vehicles and conspiracy to defraud.

Nassar Haro came to the United States to file an $11 million libel suit against Time magazine for linking him to the car-theft operation when he was arrested. He has denied any involvement in car theft.
